YOUNG CITIZENS ORGANIZE FOR ABBITT CAMPAIGN

committee and is fourth-ranking member of the House Administration Committee and chairman of its Elections Subcommittee. In addition, he is a member of the all- important non - partisan House Ethics Committee created by the House in 1968 and consisting of six Democrats and six Republicans, which deals with the conduct of every Member of the House and the employees, numbering in the thousands. Congressman Abbitt was unanimously elected by his colleagues as one of six Democratic members, showing the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow - Members as well as the confidence they have in his integrity and character.

"The Congressman's legislative accomplishments have met with the overwhelming approval of the people of the District. He has voted on thousands of bills in his years in Washington and has always taken a public stand on all matters of importance, regardless of political consequences.

"He is vigorous, energetic, a tireless worker and in the prime of life. He is also at the height of his usefulness to the District because of his prestige and seniority, as well as the respect held for him by his colleagues, His record of accomplishment is outstanding. He supports those things which the vast majority of the people in the Fourth District believe in; and there is no way to match the seniority and experience which he has, except through long and faithful service of the kind he has so dedicately given. It is our hope that he will be returned to office with a tremendous majority in appreciation for his help to our people and his able representation. The hope of our committee is to attempt to match his dedication and willingness to run with an appeal for support among the people of the Fourth District."

COSTEN TO AID ABBITT CAMPAIGN

Fourth District with whom I worked as Peter Axson's campaign coordinator and I feel,as they, that now we must unite behind Watt Abbitt, the Democratic nominee, Congressman Abbitt has demonstrated a proven record of service to the people of our District which is remarkable in its diversity. He is alert to the needs of all areas of the District and is ever-responsive to the requests for assistance from individual constituents. His legislative record reflects his awareness of the views of his people as well as the requirements of the nation."

Costen said he is confident that Abbitt's performance in Congress "has met with the approval of the vast majority of the people he represents. His seniority standing in Congress is invaluable and cannot be replaced, except by long and faithful service. The Fourth District is fortunate to have as our representative in Congress the dean of the Virginia delegation in the House and Senate. Watt Abbitt is widely respected in Washington and his influence in getting things done is as great to every county and city in our section, not to mention the value it is to individual constituents who encounter problems with the Federal bureaucracy."

Costen is a graduate of Old Dominion College in Norfolk and is married to the former Margaret Schuler, of Los Angles, California. He has been active in the field of public relations in Virginia and several other areas in recent years. He has served as public relations director for Elizabeth City State College, Elizabeth City, N. C. and he began publication of a magazine on the City of Chesapeake, which is still published by the Chesapeake Chamber of Commerce on a monthly basis.

HOME BUILDERS PLAN OPEN HOUSE

pentry, plumbing, electrical wiring, other interior finish work and landscaping. It's all part of the package deal offered by Tri-County.

The model home would have been finished even sooner, says Mr. McGrath except for a number of rainy days.

He says, further, that home builders will be pleased to know that a qualified buyer can have a new home on his lot with no down payment. For others, Tri-County will purchase a lot, and a down payment can be as low as $200. Home purchase payments are reasonable priced so that young families, retirees and "in-between" can have attractive two-three or four bedroom homes at modest prices.

Visitors Saturday (9 a.m. to 9 p.m.) and Sunday (1 p.m. to 9 p.m.) will be given a tour of the home with brochures and detailed plans available.

For some lucky couple there's a trip to Paris being offered as a door prize.

Paulette Is Runner-Up

Richmond – W. R. Asburst, Jr., an automotive technician with Lee Motor Co., Wilson, N. C, has gained top honors in a trouble - shooting competition among nearly 1,000 service technicians from more than 140 Ford dealerships in Ford Division's Richmond sales district.

Zone winners and runners-up to Mr. Asburst in the Richmond district competition for Ford Registered Service Technicians are:

Carlton J. Paulette, Grinels Motor Co., Appomattox; David L. Hurt, Center Ford, Inc., Newport News; and James O. Johnson, Fary-Thomas Ford, Inc., Gloucester, Va.

Nationally, more than 40,000 Ford dealer service technicians entered the competition this year which began with issuance of the 1970 model cars. The Registered Service Technician program is designed to upgrade the qualifications of dealership service staffs and to give recognition to outstanding technicians.

The Pastor Speaks

Search the Scriptures

John 5:39

The attitude of a man to the Scriptures is indicative of the state of his soul before God. It has been our priviledge this week to have a Bible Conference in our church. The speakers have been expounding on the Scriptures, how we received them, and what they teach. The language of a true Christian is, "Oh how I love Thy Law." He desires to treasure the Bible more "than thousands of gold and silver" (Ps. 119), whereas the ungodly are marketed one as those who have no delight in the law of the Lord, and such "shall not stand in the judgment," (Ps. 1). Believers, like Joshua, are commanded to search and meditate in this Book day and night, (Josh. 1:8), but those who fail to tremble at the authority of this Word (Is. 66:2), and carelessly despise the divine origin, "shall be destroyed." (Prov. 13:13). Judge the state of your soul by whether you have learned this fear of God, and His Word, "which is the beginning of wisdom."

But not only may the temporal and eternal condition of individuals be judged from this regard of the Bible, there is also no surer test of the state of the local church than the prevailing attitude towards the Bible. The prosperity of the local church is in proportion to it's evaluation of God's Word. The Reformation of the sixteenth century is a clear proof that the church flourishes when the Word is exalted. Consider the Reformer's view of the Bible. Luther said "That he would not take all the world for a single leaf of the Bible." During his ministry, he said that there was not a single verse that could be quoted in his hearing that he couldn't instantly place. Ridley knew by heart the whole of Faull's Epistles. Beza when over 80 years of age, could relate exactly all the Psalms and the Epistles in their original. It was related to us in one message this week that during the days before the Bible was printed and plentiful that an English farmer was said to have given a whole cartload of hay for only one page of the book of James. How greatly did the cause of God prosper when this attitude to the Word of God prevailed.

How differently today. All too many have turned God's Holy day into a Holiday. There is a famine today. It is not for the lack of bread, but rather for the Word of God. God said in (Hosea 4:6) that: "My people are destroyed for a lack of knowledge." Proverbs 19:2 says:"That the soul be without knowledge, it is not good," and (Prov. 29:18) says "They shall die without knowledge."

Ignorance makes a man the objective of Divine Wrath. Christ shall come "in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God." Do you know Christ as your Saviour? Are you interested? Have you considered the consequence? Are you ready for the Judgement? God hath appointed a day in the which He will judge the world. (Acts 17:30) If we can ever be of any spiritual help to you, please feel free to call upon us.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DEADLY PRIDE
Lesson for August 16, 1970

Background Scripture: Genesis 11:1-9; Psalms 10:4; Luke 12: 13-21.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 14: 3-15.

Several of the summers when I was a college student I earned part of my next year's expenses with a pick and shovel as a construction laborer. It was in one of those summers that I witnessed an unusual example of labor-management cooperation.

We were constructing a building a munitions plant for the federal government. Because we were on a "cost-plus" contract (actual cost of construction plus a fixed percentage of profit for the contractor), both the labor unions and the construction companies' management cooperated to defraud the government. This was one of those rare occasions when both parties realized that in order to get the most money out of the project, they would have to work in the closest collaboration. I have never before or since witnessed such close cooperation between these two parties.

"A Name for Ourselves"

It is this same kind of cooperation that we see indicated in the story of the Tower of Babel. There is a high degree of cooperation here, but the motive behind that cooperation is not very commendable. In one sense, however, the motive is not one of cheating a third party, at least not in the strict sense of that word. The driving force behind this unusual cooperation is naked pride: "Come, let us build ourselves a city, and a tower with its top in the heavens, and let us make a name for ourselves . . ." (Gen. 11:4).

The "tower" to which they refer was probably much on the order of the ziggurats which were huge and pyramidal, often rising in seven terraces, the last of these topped by a shrine which was regarded as the entrance to heaven. To ascend the tower and its seven terraces was regarded as an approach to the gods and their heaven.

Motivated By Pride

The tower of Babel, then, seems a proud attempt to reach heaven and perhaps become the equals of the gods. This is not the first story in Genesis that deals with the destructiveness of human pride. It was this same desire to be equal with God that led Adam and Eve to pick and eat the "forbidden fruit." So, too, the men of Babel wanted to be like gods, to rise above their status as men.

How many of the world's problems are caused and perpetuated by our tendency to forget that we are men, not gods? God wants us to be aggressive, enterprising, and ambitious, but he also knows what happens to men when they forget who they are as God's creatures.

Recently a prominent captain of industry shocked the community by committing suicide. Though in ill health, the man was not in danger so long as he curtailed his activities. But it was this curtailment that caused him to lose the desire to live. He was an extremely proud man, particularly of his health and athletic abilities. Though his body would have enabled him to a much longer life, his pride could not withstand the hurt. He simply could not accept his new limitations. He was killed by his own pride.

To Be Fully Human

The proud man arrogantly prides himself on his self-sufficiency. He doesn't need any one else, he thinks. He relies solely on himself and his powers and abilities. Yet there may come a day when the proud man may lose some of his powers and then discover that he very much needs both God and other people. So pride is a false force. It separates people from their fellowmen, from the world around them, from God, and ultimately from themselves. It causes them to be unable to achieve their God ordained purpose in life, which is to be creative. No man ever achieved anything of equal value or significance by himself. No man ever was or is quite human (Based on outline by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Released by Religious News Service.)
